Dear Jim:

Thank you for your letter of January 17th giving me the proposed membership of the study groups on nuclear testing and long-range missile detection.

I would like to nominate Pete Scoville as our representative on the nuclear testing group along with [redacted] as his second. As you probably know, [redacted] is chief of our Nuclear Energy Division.

25X1
25X1

For the group studying means of monitoring long-range rocket tests our nominee is [redacted] who heads our Guided Missiles Division.

25X1

I wish to assure you that CIA stands ready to be of assistance to these groups in any way it can.

Sincerely,

Allen W. Dulles
Director

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

January 17, 1958

Dear Allen:

This is with reference to the NSC Action on U. S. policy on control of armaments taken at the meeting on January 6, 1958.

This action calls for two technical studies to be made by representatives of the Science Advisory Committee, Department of Defense, AEC, and the CIA. I have already discussed Department of Defense and AEC representation with Mr. Quarles and Admiral Strauss, and we have come to an agreement on the following panel compositions in their respective areas.

In the area of nuclear testing, the following members have been proposed:

Representatives of the Department of Defense

General Herbert B. Loper
Maj. Gen. Richard C. Coiner
Brig. Gen. Daniel E. Hooks

Representatives of the AEC

Brig. Gen. Alfred Starbird
Dr. Carson Mark
Dr. Harold Brown
Dr. Roderick Spence

Representatives of the Science Advisory Committee

Dr. Hans A. Bethe (Chairman of the group)
Dr. Herbert York

The first meeting of this group has been scheduled for February 6, 1958, at 10:30 a.m. in Room 213 of the Executive Office Building.

In connection with the second area of interest, the monitoring of long-range rocket tests, the missiles panel of the Science Advisory Committee has the concurrence of DOD in proceeding with this study.

The composition of the panel includes:

Dr. G. B. Kistiakowsky, Chairman
Dr. J. W. McRae
Dr. H. York
Mr. L. Hyland
Dr. R. F. Bacher

I would appreciate your informing me of the CIA representatives you would like to add to these panels.

Sincerely,

J. R. Killian, Jr.
